

THE SPITJACK
ROTISSERIE BRASSERIE

DINNER

The SpitJack was the name given to the Kitchen boy, "Jack", who has the sole responsibility of turning large spits of meats for hours on end. To save these poor boys arms, the first mechanical SpitJack was developed in 1500's and we have an original mechanical SpitJack from 1580 at the foot of our staircase.

The art of roasting meat has changed very little since the early days of SpitJacks. Here at The SpitJack we follow the ancient method of roasting meats by rotating it slowly on a spit over an open flame. Using our classic French rotisserie and only the finest local ingredients, our SpitJacks put as much care and passion into their work as all The SpitJack's that have gone before.
